

I CLAIM AS MY INVENTION

1. A security device for entrance doors comprising of a wall bracket mounted adjacent to the door trim on the opening side of the door and a door bracket mounted on the face of the door on the opening side with a neoprene/rubber belt affixed to the wall bracket rotating to the door bracket engaging door bracket allowing partial viewing by occupant while the door remains secure and To prevent unaware exiting of youth or toddler of residence